Submit Arms Treaty

US, Reds Both Move On Issue

GENEVA (AP)-The United States and the Soviet Union jointly put forward today the draft of a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

The draft was submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference by U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster and Alexei A. Roshchin of the Soviet Union.

It marked a turning point in more than five years of negotiations to prevent an uncontrollable proliferation of nuclear weapons throughout the world. But the draft text had significant gaps and much hard bargaining still lies ahead before a treaty can be signed and rati-

The biggest gap still to be negotiated concerned the control and inspection system to verify compliance with the treaty. Article 3 of the draft, which is to contain the control provisions. was left blank.

Submission of the draft was delayed for months by Russian refusal to submit the draft without an agreed Article 3. Today's move marked a major American-Soviet compromise on this issue, since work on the treaty can now proceed in the United Nations and elsewhere while the thorny control issue is left in abeyance.

The treaty as now envisaged by the United States and the Soviet Union would seek to perpetuate the present nuclear weapons monopoly of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Red China.

powers to promise never to hand such weapons or weapons know-how to any other nation. The nations which at present have no nuclear weapons would promise never to manufacture or acquire them.

Britain is in agreement with the treaty draft, but France and Red China are both absent from the Geneva conference and are in no way committed.

Some nations such as India conference but have reservations about the treaty because they fear it may one day expose them to nuclear blackmail. The treaty draft was handed to the conference delegates by the United Nations secretariat in official English- and Russianlanguage versions.

The conference is expected to be recessed soon. Final negotiations for the treaty probably will take place at the U.N General Assembly this fall. Few delegates had any illusion that Red China—which remains excluded from the United Nations - was likely to adhere to the treaty in the foreseeable future.

Forests Closed By Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A temporary emergency closure was ordered today for national forests in North Idaho and western Montana.

Neal M. Rahm, northern regional forester at Missolu, Mont., ordered the closure because of extreme fire danger

The action came as thousands of men battled fires burning over an estimated 80,000 acres of forests in the Northwest and British Columbia.

High winds late Wednesday spread several fires in North Idaho. One blaze, at Cotter Bar, near Grangeville, spread from 1,000 acres to 4,200. Officials said they planned to have at least 500 men and 12 bulldozers on the blaze today. About 2,000 men were battling fires in the Nez Perce National Forest alone — crews imported from throughout the West.

Rahm said the closure prohibits public travel and camping except on highways and in established public campgrounds along the highways. The closure was ordered on the Kaniksu, Kootenai, Flathead Bitterroot, Clearwater, Nez Perce, St. Joe, Coeur d'Alene and Lolo national for-

Visitors At Fair Today

Friday afternoon the State Championship motorcycle races will be held in front of the grandstand with the State Championship for Modified Stock cars to be run on the halfmile oval that night.

With the good weather holding it is anticipated the attendance will overcome the one-day deficit which was Wednesday. Wednesday there were 20,355 paid admissions through the gates compared to 22,716 in 1966, down 2,361. The actual paid attendance for the first five days of the fair totals 146,821 compared to 126,466 in

The unofficial total, which includes children under six and season tickets, is 27,908 against 31,217 in 1966 and the five day unofficial total is 198,813 compared with 170,905, or an increase over 1966 of 17,908. Governor Warren E.

Hearnes, who paid his official visit to the fair Wednesday, after an all-day tour of the grounds, visiting the livestock area, sheep, hogs, mules, and the hundreds of exhibits, said, "I have visited these fair grounds many, many times, but I am convinced the Missouri State Fair will be the leading such fair in the nation within a short time. Missourians are interested in the fair far more than was anticipated.'

He was referring to the increases in exhibits, entries. and actual paid attendance.

At the noonday luncheon held at the Administration Building, Governor Hearnes, again told of how the fair has improved and has what he believes the back-of the Legislator." I would like very much to see the Missouri State Fair Number one, the finest fair in the country. I said last year we should have a fair second to none, and I believe this can be accomplished. Increase Veteran Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) - A bill greatly increasing a long list of benefits for veterans, including those who have served in Vietnam, has been sent President Johnson by the Senate.

The bill's final provisions, said Sen. Russell B. Long.

D-La., its floor manager, go far beyond the administration's budget requests. But he said he is confident the President will sign it. The bill includes these main features:

-Pension increases for two million veterans and their widows amounting to 5.4 per cent for most recipients, with hikes up to 8.5 per cent to widows in the lowest income categories. -Vietnam veterans would receive the same levels of benefits as veterans of other conflicts. -Educational allowances for veterans qualifying under the "Cold War" G. I. Bill would be raised and several categories of training would be added. Because of a delay in bringing up the bill, the soonest it could go into effect is Oct. 1. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he believes the delay was caused by the administration's desire to save some $25 million, about the cost of one month's benefits. Under the bill veterans can complete their high school education at the full benefit rate. It also would bring on-the-job, on-the-farm and flight training under the law for the first time. It would extend to June 25.

British Retaliate Against Red China

posed tight restrictions on the movement of Chinese diplomats in this country Tuesday night in retaliation for the burning of its Peking mission and the beating of British staff members by rampaging Red Guards. But a break in diplomatic relations did not appear imminent.

The British government reacted with swift anger over the incident in which British charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson, and nie other mission staff members were pummeled and humiliated in front of a screaming mob.

Britain charged that Mao Tse-tung's regime was behind the attack and linked it to Peking's campaign to harass British rule in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

Sources in Whitehall believed it unlikely, however, that the incident would prompt Britain to sever relations with China. One source said the Foreign Office 'has learned not to react in pique." Another said the British will "sit tight.

The Foreign Office branded the attack "an outrageous and uncivilized act which would bring the Chinese government into disrepute throughout the world."

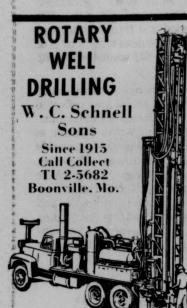

Summoning Chinese Charge d'Affaires Shen Ping, a Foreign Office official informed him

-All Chinese in Britain holding diplomatic or official passports must obtain exit visas from the Foreign Office before leaving Britain.

All members of the Chinese diplomatic mission are restricted to travel within a radius of five miles from the center of London unless they give 48 hours notice.

-Permission to operate diplomatic radio transmissions by the Chinese mission is suspended until restrictions on the British diplomatic radio in Peking are lifted.

A day-long demonstration by more than 10,000 Red Guards in front of the British mission's office building exploded into violence with the expiration of a Chinese ultimatum demanding that the British release Communist newsmen arrested in the Hong Kong and withdraw action

LONDON (AP) — Britain im- against pro-Communist newspa-

The demonstration got under wey, the Foreign Office said, with an attempt to make Hopson and other British diplomats bow their heads and "admit Hopson refused and after hours of argument he was allowed to transmit a Chinese protest to the British government. The British Mission's radio went dead after the operator reported "they're coming in."

The Foreign Office learned from other diptomats in Peking that the Red Guards smashed their way into the building, savagely beating diplomats and secetaries, and began throwing cans of flaming gasoline.

A Japanese report from Pekinl said Hopson and nine other staff members were beaten up as they fled from the burning building. The Kyodo Newsi-Agency's Peking correspondent) said it was not known how se-1 riously they were injured.

The Foreign Office said another embassy sent word to London the British staff and their families were safe in other foreign missions.

Communists in Hong Kong have been carrying on a campaign of strikes, riots and terror since May with the open sanction of the Chinese regime. Rea China supplies half the colony's fooe, and a Communist leader in Hong Kong threatened Tuesday that this would be stopped unless action against the pro-Communist papers and their employes and executives ended.

Car Theft No Sedalia Problem

Automobile theft has become such a problem in the United States that on March 1 of this year a program was initiated to remind motorists to remove the keys from their cars while left unattended.

National figures show that in 1966 there were 570,000 cars stolen or one every 57 seconds. And of those stolen, 80 per cent were left open by the drivers and 42 per cent were left with the keys in the ignition or literally given away.

Automobile theft, which has never been a major problem in Sedalia according to Police Chief William Miller, is nevertheless still existent.

In 1966 there were 33 cars stolen in Sedalia with 31 being recovered. Out of those stolen, 17 had the keys somewhere in the car such as in the ashtray or under the floor mats. Four had the keys out of the ignition but the ignition switched was left unlocked and four had the key in the ignition.

Most cars stolen are recovered but the thief is seldom apprehended which makes it difficult to determine exactly what age group steals the most autos.

But, according to the National Automobile Theft Prevention Campaign, auto theft is primarily a crime of the young man. And it is also one of the first steps to more serious offenses.

'Most autos are stolen to facilitate another crime.' according to Chief Miller.

National figures also show that in 1966, 24 per cent of the cars stolen were involved in accidents at a staggering cost to careless owners.

And another tragedy of auto thefts are the injuries and deaths that frequently result from high speed chases or lost control by a young boy without the knowledge of how to manipulate a high powered motor vehicle

Another temptation that often leads to auto thefts are packages left in an unlocked auto. Discovery of keys by a thief who entered an unlocked car to steal is often too much temptation.

Most cities that have been plagued with a rash of autothefts have passed ordinances making it illegal to leave keys in the car while it is unattended. Although Sedalia does not have such a law Chief Miller said, "I am in favor of an ordinance such as this.

Seasonal Drop

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -A seasonal decline in nonfarm jobs during July was reported today by Herman Julien, director of employment security.

The number in July dropped 11,500 from the 1,592,000 employed in June. The July total was still 19,500 higher than July last year.

Julien attributed the seasonal drop to the automobile model changeover and the summer decrease in school jobs. The unemployment rate in July was 3.6 per cent compared with 4.2 per cent in June.

Such was the first place winner in the arrangements for mantel. On the theme "Thanksgiving" the container itself was unusual, a carved wooden cornucopia with the end curled against the base. It was a magnificent arrangement with yellow chrysanthemums at the bottom beneath which were potatoes and over the side a cluster of chestnuts. At the top were sheaves of wheat, small cattails. But what was the center? It was lovely but what was it? Little rose brown flowers over green, and then it was discovered the flowers were little florets of hydrangeas turned wrong-sideout and placed artistically on an evergreen branch. Above the arrangement was a picture "The Gleaners.

The second place winner in the mantel arrangements was for St. Patrick's Day, a green bowl on a brass base filled with greenery and at the side a pile of Irish potatoes.

Other mantel arrangements included a picture of a Spanish girl in a red dress and flowered shawl with deep red dahlias in a black bowl on one side and a low red burning candle in a black wrought iron holder on the other side. Then there was the Halloween arrangement with marigolds in a black vase. black cats and on the wall a hanging with a pumpkin face.

A Christmas theme was of pine cones tied with red ribbon and the Easter theme a wooden cross in a rock with white glads and above the picture of the ascension of Christ.

The second place table had a very different arrangement with gloriosa daisies in a brown container with gladiolus leaves designed to form a circle and three stalks of different lengths each topped with a green

The remaining 22 per cent, Clark said, can be charged to mentally unstable persons and others "for just plain meanness."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson has bowed to pressure but found a way to take some of the load off his own shoulders after listening to 24 days of new criticism about the way things are going in South Vietnam.

Johnson, with an instinct for the middle road, Wednesday night named a 20-man delegation of prominent citizens to go to Vietnam and observe the election. They will not be supervisors. They will not make a formal report.

think individually when they return here after the election Sept. 3. Since they probably won't all agree, the chances of a continued dispute here look pretty The new load of criticism began to hit Johnson July 31. There had been increasing growling about Johnson's handling of the war, particularly by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. On July 31 he introduced a resolution—the Senate hasn't acted on it yet and perhaps never will-that would greatly reduce a President's power in foreign affairs. It would require joint approval by Congress and the President to seal any national commitment abroad. This already is required if the President wants to make a treaty. But a President can do a lot of things abroad without a treaty. So the Fulbright idea would tie a President's hands far more than ever before.

Then on Aug. 10, 21 House Republicans called on its Foreign Affairs Committee to modify the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which both houses approved in 1964. It pretty much gives the President a blank check on how he wants to stop Communist aggression in Vietnam.

On that same day 57 House Democrats called on Johnson to warn the ruling military regime in South Vietnam that unless it allows a fair presidential election there this country may do some rethinking about helping South Vietnam.

This followed reports from Saigon that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, running for vice president on the same ticket with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now head of state and running for president, had said the military junta was already making plans to retain power after the election no matter who won.

And that same day, Aug. 10, the other 10 presidential candidates opposing Thieu announced they would refuse to campaign unless assured by Thieu and Ky there would be an end to "harrassment.'

This was enough for some of the Senators growing ever more unhappy about the war. So on Aug. 1' a bunch of them-led by New York's two Senators, Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat, and Jacob K. Javits, Republican -began calling the upcoming elections a fraud, a farce, and a charade.

But that same day, the Thieu-Ky government invited Congress to send observers to Vietnam to insure the elections were free and open to scrutiny

The Senate didn't want any part of that and rejected the invitation. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he saw no reason why Congress should involve itself. And Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said just about the same thing.

Five days later, Aug. 16, Johnson tried to soo the senatorial fears by saying he already had told Thieu and Ky it was vital to keep the elections on the up and up and he said they promised to support the election outcome. But that didn't soothe Javits who the next day proposed, although the Senate wasn't willing to send anyone to Vietnam to see how things really were, that the elections be postponed a month to give the civilian candidates a "real chance." But this suggestion was ignored on all sides. Johnson held a news conference Aug. 18 and, in effect, suggested "patience, please" and then challenged Congress to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin resolution if it didn't like what he was doing. Ky, taking extraordinary action, sent Congress itself a letter Tuesday pledging he and Thieu would abide by the election outcome, no matter who won.

And late Wednesday Johnson announced he was sending the delegation of citizens, including some senators, to Vietnam as observers. Now if the elections turn out sour, nobody can say Johnson was

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Leave National Holidays Alone. - We are all for longer weekends; they are indescribably glorious. But we look with leery eye on proposals to create more of them by artificially celebrating a number of America's national holidays on Mondays rather than on the day when they would normally fall in the course of a year. Among such holidays could be Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day and the Veterans' Day.

To look upon such days as little more than a chance for holidaying is a further step in the wrong direction. If anything is needed today, it is a clearer realization of the sacrifices and achievements which such holidays were instituted to honor. Already more and more businesses around the country operate on national holidays, these days being looked upon primarily as a chance to make money rather than as an occasion for gratitude, rededication or remembrance. This wrong trend would only be intensified if the American people came to celebrate, say, the Fourth of July at any

The black and white duck at the Catholic Community Center wasn't on the program for the Independent Retail Grocers annual picnic but he either aspires to be an entertainer or. as someone put it. has an appreciation of the better things of life, and was an over enthusiastic audience.

He didn't get quite as excited over the boys who played the accordions, perhaps feeling that he never could be an accordion player, but when the little girls danced. he practically did too. his little short tail feathers wiggling furiously. When other little girls sang he not only wiggled his tail feathers but kept stretching his long neck up and clacking his bill, but somehow he couldn't seem to get his songs to come out like the girls did.

The ducks always come up from the lake whenever the food serving starts. but this was an extra special good evening for the black and white duck. there was a program, too. Maybe it was a talent contest and maybe he could get an audition

Then a small girl started chasing him and he went back to the lake as fast as his little web feet could carry him. The duck was run off as one of the little girls was singing and a big dog seemed to feel it was his duty to take over where the duck left off, so on he walks right up to the little girl and stood there looking up at her. until someone ran him off. If they had left him there he probably would have tried to sing, too.

People were enjoying the children, and the duck and the dog saw they just were not wanted on the program. People are funny. There is a talent show coming up this fall. however, maybe the Jaycee Wives would like a nice talented duck to sing and dance, or a dog who is pretty certain he could steal the show. All the duck wants is a little food and an audition. H.L.

Race Study Faces Negro Skepticism

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Some elements in the nation's responsible Negro community are tending to discount in advance the work of President Johnson's new commission on racial disorders.

While this sounds like severe prejudgment, it is in fact more a postjudgment of the largely futile 1966 White House conference on civil rights. Disillusionment over that experience is widespread among responsible Negro leaders.

They say they can see nothing of material consequence flowing from that endeavor.

A-Meprobamate in the usual dosage is probably harmless. Acetaminophen (Tylenol) belongs to a group of drugs that may induce anemia in the fetus. Alcoholic Haze Over Washington

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The flow of liquor in the nation's capital has reached such a high tide that it demands public attention. The caricatures of the politician breathing cigar smoke and swilling scotch from a bottle, and the diplomat, his finger curled around the stem of a cocktail glass, generally are not true. But there is a convivial conspiracy to protect the growing number of alcoholics both on Capitol Hill and

The finest liquors, free flowing, are available to our public officials and are not always easy to resist. ss out the best brands as offerings on Capitol Hill. Embassies pour the same quality booze at their diplomatic soirees. More than one high official, not wishing to seem unappreciative of his host's taste in beverages, has had to be carried home from a Washington party.

On both sides of Capitol Hill, the hospitable atmosphere is conducive to elbow bending. Many members of Congress keep an open bar in their offices. When there is frequent voting on the Senate or House floor, bars are automatically opened in some of the ornate offices close at hand. Under tinkling cut-glass chandeliers, legislators can find the stimulation that may be lacking in the debate. For Years, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has led a lonely campaign against these unlicensed bars. The thought of inebriated legislators casting votes on vital national issues appalls him.

"There has never been one night session of the Senate in all my experience," Morse once told friends, "that hasn't witnessed at least one Senator making a fool of himself and disgracing the Senate." But colleagues look upon Morse's oppositon as a quaint idiosyncracy, and the festivities between roll calls go happily on.

-Legislative Lushes-Most names will be omitted from this report, not for lack of evidence but out of personal condiseration. But House Armed Services Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., has been identified by this column as an alcoholic because of his access to the nation's top military and intelligence secrets. His drinking makes him a security risk.

Rivers isn't the only notorious souse on Capitol Hill. At a party thrown by a prominent Senator, the irreverent Rep. Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., formally toasted the host, to the roaring delight of the other guests, as "the second nastiest drunk in town.'

Another well-known Senator lay against the wall in a drunken slumber throughout President Johnson's last State of the Union address. Another showed up at a recent Jewish affair in Baltimore too

The rat population in India is estimated between 3 and 5 billion with sewer rats growing to the weight of several pounds. The religious and hungry Indian is becoming alerted to the food consuming rodent and is willing to work toward its extermination but as yet is not fortified with methods of doing so. The United States and other countries that have sent grain to India have a stake in the rodent population which is eating the food intended for humans. At the same time, however, President Johnson is angry at the Congress for refusing to pass a rat control bill in our own country. He was more concerned about the rats in our slums biting the babies and spreading disease than in eating our food. Some of India's "Pied Pipers" have gone so far as to recommend a "Rat Ministry" while the enlightened lawmakers in the United States go on feeding India's rats and refuse to pass a rat control bill in this country. In tairness to congressional members, however, those who voted against the bill say there are plenty of agencies already in existe ce to exterminate rats and it is largely a local matter

His words were music to the ears of Kansas City players and fans who couldn't forget Green Bay's 35-10 world title victory. This time they saw a club scoring mark.

Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi had few kind words that day for Stram's innovationsthe play-action pass, the triplestack defense, etc. Lombardi said the Chiefs showed him nothing new, but the Bears obviously had a lot of trouble with play action. Last week, the Bears held Green Bay to one TD in an 18-0 loss.

Dawson, waived out of the NFL five years ago, didn't miss his chance to credit Stram's play-action plays, which start like a running play.

"What did it was the play-action pass," Dawson said. "We knew they were tough defensively against a stand-up passer and we knew they hadn't seen the play-action much. We had a pretty good idea it would work."

Dawson was 10-for-15 for 212 yards and four touchdowns. He triggered an amazing 32-point second period. It was 46-17 when Stram was subdued in his comments.

"We didn't talk much about revenge for the Super Bowl,' Stram said, "but I wouldn't be truthful if I said we didn't have that in mind.

Taylor caught 4 passes for 130 yards, including a 70-yard bomb for the game's first TD on the last play of the first quarter, and a 29-yarder which made it 36-10 less than 15 minutes later. Pete Beathard threw an 80yard TD to rookie flanker Gloster Richardson and scored with perfect faking on a 2-yard bootleg. In between, little Noland Smith returned a kickoff 99 yards, as the sellout crowd of 33,041 velled for more.

Associated Press Sports Writer Ron Santo is one of Al Mc-Bean's biggest boosters, but flattery still can't get him to first base against the Pittsburgh Pirates' newest starting pitcher.

McBean, making only his second start in two years Wednes-day night, went the distance for a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs...and protected his slim edge by robbing Santo of a hit with the tying run on third base in the eighth inning.

"He's good and cocky and he gets the job done, which is what counts," Santo says of the Pirate bullpen specialist, who has split two starting decisions with the Cubs this season after working exclusively in relief since August, 1965. "He's as fast as anybody in the league and he almost dares you to hit the Santo went hitless in his first three at-bats Wednesday night, then challenged McBean in the eighth with two out and Don Kessinger on third. But McBean made a leaping stab of the Chicago slugger's smash through the box and threw him out, ending the Cubs' last threat.

Elsewhere, San Francisco blanked St. Louis' National League leaders 6-0 behind Mike McCormick's five-hitter; Atlanta trounced Houston 9-3; Philadelphia edged the New York Mets 3-2 and Los Angeles pounded Cincinnati 8-0.

In the American League, firstplace Chicago trimmed New York 5-2; California smashed Cleveland 16-5; Washington upended Boston 3-2 and Detroit divided a doubleheader with Minnesota, winning 10-0 before losing 4-3.

McBean, given an early tworun lead, scattered eight hits on the way to his fourth victory in seven decisions. Losing pitcher Bill Hands' fifth-inning single delivered the Cubs' run.

Priddy's First Full Contest

By RON RAPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

It figured that Bob Priddy's first major league complete game would come against Boston. He'd been working up to it for years.

Priddy went the distance for Washington Wednesday night as the Senators downed the Red Sox 3-2 on Paul Casanova's ninth-inning sacrifice fly.

When Priddy was with San Francisco the last few seasons saw a lot of the Red Sox since both clubs trained in Arizona and met often in exhibition games.

He came to the Senators this season and of his three previous starts, the only winning one was against Boston in June. But he didn't go the distance. So in a doubleheader Tuesday, Priddy charted every pitch to Boston hitters and when his turn came again he was ready.

In other American League games Wednesday night, Chicago beat New York 5-2, Detroit and Minnesota split a doubleheader 10-0 and 3-4, California destroyed Cleveland 16-5 and Baltimore blanked Kansas City

In the National League, San Francisco beat St. Louis 6-0, Atlanta crushed Houston 9-3, Pittsburgh stopped Chicago 2-1, Philadelphia dumped New York 3-2 and Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 8-0.

Boston, now in second place in the hot American League race a game behind Chicago, took an early lead on Carl Yastrzemski's 32nd homer, but Ed Stroud put the Senators ahead with his first major league shot.

Youngster's 'Accident' Proves to Be Good Idea

By POLLY CRAMER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is the result of an accident my 6-year-old had. We buy a week's supply of bread at one time and keep it in the freezer until needed. Getting the required frozen slices apart was a problem until one day my son dropped a loaf as he took it from the freezer. To his surprise, and mine, the slices fell part with no trouble. Now I just drop the frozen loaf on the counter top and it works fine.—MRS. H. W.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. P. M. S. can stretch her elastic belt by first letting it soak in clear water for a minute or two, blot out the excess water with a towel, close the belt to the right size and stretch over hooks or a chair back until dry. I used the back of my plastic-covered kitchen chair and it worked fine. The hooks or chair back must be the desired belt size or all is in vain.—MRS. N. G. G.

DEAR POLLY—I have only one child, a baby. I am very conscientious about getting the most for my money when buying clothes. When I buy anything for the baby, I keep the paper tag that came with it, write on it where the garment was bought, a description for identification and then, after a few washings and some wear, I can determine which brands hold up best and gauge the sizes for my next buys.

—MRS H

DEAR POLLY—As all mothers of small children know, bibs are always a problem when traveling. They are never handy when needed. We carry a roll of paper towels and a sweater clip in the car at all times. When a bib is needed, tear off a towel (or several if you expect a real mess) and clip it around baby's neck.

These disposable bibs are really handy and useful.—CAROL

DEAR POLLY—Have you ever forgotten a money-refund coupon until after the expiration date? Or perhaps you have thrown out a label needed to send in with a coupon. I solved this problem by attaching such coupons to the carton or can with a rubber band. This serves as a reminder every time I open the cupboard door.—FANNIE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I managed to burn a hole in a new suit that I had only worn once. The material is bonded to foam and the hole is just off the center front. I hope one of the readers has an idea that will help me. Thanks a lot for all the special Pointers.—A REAL FAN

DEAR POLLY—My foundation garment, with elastic shoulders, has been washed many times and as the garment gets older the elastic curls enough to be uncomfortable. I corrected this by stitching regular elastic on the top side of the shoulders and stretching this new elastic just a little while stitching. This saves an expensive garment for still further use.—DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY-I have a wooden cutting board that is warped (the long sides are curling toward the center) and I would like to know if there is something I can do to straighten it out.—JUDI

DEAR POLLY-After cutting the grass with a power mower and a rotary mower, the dandelions came up very fast again. The grass was much shorter than the dantook an kitchen knife (about six inches long) that was still rather sharp and removed the wood handle. I filed a little off the end of a fivecent cane, took a small screw and attached the knife blade to the base of the cane. The knife had a small hole through it where the handle had been attached. By swinging the cane as one would a golf club, I cut the dandelions off.—RONALD

DEAR POLLY—I am in a 4-H Club and we are taking a home nursing course. I would like to tell Mrs. R. M. D. the way we learned to keep a person from sliding down in bed when the head must be elevated. Take a hard pillow or folded blanket and place at the foot of the bed for the patient to brace his feet against. Or one could take a small cardboard carton or wooden box about $14 \times 12 \times 9$ inches, pad it with a pillow or blanket and place at the foot of the bed. The support should be about two inches higher than the toes to keep the covers from pressing down on them.-JOANNE

DEAR POLLY—Cookbooks say to bake tart shells on an overturned cupcake pan, but I found it hard to cut the dough to the right size. Now I open a paper cupcake liner and trace its size on the dough, place these circles on the overturned cupcake pan and pinch the four corners. I have quick and perfect looking tarts every time. perfect-looking tarts every time.—JEAN

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP) -To Coach Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers, the merger of the American and National Football Leagues might be the greatest thing since the amalgamation of Adam and Eve.

But you can carry a good thing too far, and that is what Gillman possibly has done by scheduling three consecutive exhibition games with National League teams.

"If the merger hadn't come about," Gillman said, "we as a club would have been dead, assuming we followed the same policy.

He referred to the Chargers' policy of not extending lucrative bonuses to college players who also had been drafted by the NFL.

The Chargers failed to sign their high draft choices for two years, and they paid for it last year by skidding from the top of the Western Division to within one spot of the bottom.

Came the merger and the common draft, however, and the Chargers started signing their draft choices again. They also scheduled those three interleague games with Detroit, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh. No other AFL team scheduled more than two games with the NFL, and none on consecutive weekends

Now their problem is can they come out of those battles unscathed enough to start the regular season in competitive fashion?

The answer could be no, and it could damage the Chargers' chances to climb back up the ladder.

"We have to go all out in preseason games," Gillman said, explaining his exhibition philosophy. "We'll settle for nothing less. Any veteran who thinks he can turn it on for the regular season is wrong. You can't turn it on and off like a light switch. You have to turn it on from the start.

The Chargers have quite a bit of experience to turn on.

There are Lance Alworth, the league's premier pass receiver; Paul Lowe, one of the most dangerous runners in the league; John Hadl, the second leading quarterback in 1966; Kenny Graham and Speedy Duncan, two of the top defensive backs, and tackle Ron Mix, the only man to make the All-Star team every year the league has been in existence.

Now in his sixth season, Hadl has not been less than second statistically in passing the past three years.

Lowe, on the other hand. dropped off last year to 643 yards rushing from his recordbreaking 1,121 the year before. The 30-year-old halfback wants the record back — Boston's Jim Nance broke it last year - and if he even comes close to getting it, San Diego could be trouble.

Joining Alworth on the receiving end of Hadl's passes are split end Gary Garrison and tight end Jacque MacKinnon. With Mix in the interior offensive line are tackle Ernie Wright, guards Walt Sweeney and Ed Mitchell and center Sam Gruneisen.

Defensively, Gillman has bolstered his line by acquiring end Tom Day from Buffalo for Keith Lincoln. He also picked up tackle Scott Appleton and linebacker John Baker from Houston for Miller Farr.

Appleton is fighting holdovers Steve DeLong and George Gross for a job while Baker could break into a starting spot along with Rick Redman, Frank Buncom or Chuck Allen, who was injured after San Diego jumped to a 4-0 record last season.

"I never did have a good feeling about our team last year, even when we were 4-0," Gillman said.

This year, though, brings a different feeling.

"We have lots of talent, and potentially we have a real fine team," he continued. "We have lots of youth, tremendous interest and we'll have one of the finest defenses we've ever had. If we have some luck, we'll win some games.'

Unless they lose them even before the season starts.

"It just came about 10 years too late.' The victory was worth only

Hearing Asked By KC Squad

BALTIMORE (AP) :- The Kansas City Athletics, last in the American League, are going right to the top in their smouldering dispute with club owner Charles O. Finley.

Maintaining their solidarity, the A's have voted unanimously to request a formal hearing and investigation by baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert.

As the Athletics headed home today upon completion of a road trip, the request was to be made of Eckert in New York by Marvin J. Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Finley and the A's have been openly feuding since the controversial club owner suspended and fined pitcher Lew Krausse last week for an alleged incident aboard an airliner.

"The players feel Finley's actions have been detrimental to baseball and are appealing under a major league agreement that the commissioner can look into any such actions," Miller said Wednesday night.

A Block To Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)-If there were more Mike McCormicks in the National League. the St. Louis Cardinals wouldn't be making a shambles of the current pennant race.

McCormick Wednesday became the league's first 17-game winner with a seemingly effortless 6-0 victory over the league leaders. The crafty left-hander, now 17-6, mowed down the Cardinals with methodical effectiveness for the third straight time this season without defeat.

The Giants' ace limited St. Louis to five singles-three of them by Orlando Cepeda-to register his fourth shutout and 10th complete game of the season. In three starts against the Redbirds, McCormick has posted 6-0, 5-2, 6-0 complete game

"I don't know what it is," said the star southpaw, "but I've certainly had great support against St. Louis. I'm also thankful nobody was on base when Cepeda got his hits.'

The Giants got to loser Steve Carlton, 11-7, early. Jim Hart opened the second inning with a walk, stole second and scored on Hal Lanier's single to left.
